

Harris Hite

Client Relations and Marketing Analytics Manager

In 2022 Harris Hite joined the PsychoGeometrics team after six years working in sales, customer service, and management. His favorite part of his work is building relationships with new and existing clients, providing excellent service to retain and grow clients, and reaching team-set goals, increasing employee engagement and overall morale.

As part of the Shapes Team, Harris focuses on client relations, account management, marketing and analytics, as well as serving as a Certified Shapes Facilitator.

A North Carolina native, Harris earned his BA in Communications with a concentration in Interpersonal and Organizational Communications from The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. In addition to his full-time class schedule as an undergraduate, Harris was also a member of the UNC Football Team as a walk-on and eventually earned a full athletic scholarship, lettering his senior year.

Harris is from Apex, NC, a growing suburb of Raleigh known as the “Peak of Good Living.” He and his wife, Erica, were married and bought their first house during the Pandemic in 2020 and live in Raleigh. Harris enjoys spending his free time with his wife, family, and friends. He also loves getting exercise both indoors and outdoors, is an avid reader of history and the classics, and spending time at the beach anytime of the year!

Using Shapes for Simple, Efficient, and Effective Communication.

Hite Resources, Inc. · psychogeometrics.com · infopgeo@psychogeometrics.com

© Copyright 2022. All rights reserved.